The Prophetic Judgment Of Heidi Baker

“Tell her, I Am against her, says the LORD. Why does she refuse to obey Me, says the LORD? I have called her to be a prophet, so why does she speak against Me? I said women should not teach but must remain silent before Me. She goes all about teaching in her ministry, to conferences everywhere, that Heidi Baker, prophetess, so why yet does she not remain before Me? Go into the woods and remain before Me, Heidi, and not unto the world. You use your donations for airfare to fly to conferences everywhere, yet I called you to remain before Me, not before men. Because of this I will strike you with an illness that you will not recover from, O Heidi, prophetess of evil, and I will strike you down suddenly, O wicked woman, so that others may fear, and women remain in their place that I called them to be in, not on the road flying everywhere, O wicked Heidi. O repent, for the time is short, O wicked prophetess of evil, wicked Heidi. Your LORD has spoken. O repent!”
